

What is claimed is:

1. ~~A system interactively controlled by a user remote control for displaying a program guide on a display screen, comprising:~~

~~circuitry for receiving television signals corresponding to a plurality of television channels and for selecting a corresponding one of the plurality of television channels to display on said display screen;~~

~~circuitry for receiving program guide data for the program guide; and~~

~~circuitry for displaying the program guide with a perceived transparency on the selected television channel.~~

add
OK

add B1

46327-44542530